Alpha Metal Recycling Names Renee Zastro Senior Vice President of Marketing and Sales

CHICAGO, IL (April 12, 2018) – Alpha Metal Corporation, a one-source metal recycling provider, has promoted Renee Zastro to the role of Senior Vice President of Marketing and Sales.

For the past year, Zastro has served as Director of Operations for the Chicago-based company. In her expanded new role, she will oversee daily operations and spearhead the development of growth strategies. As part of her responsibilities, she will manage the buying and selling of scrap metals and establishing the pricing levels for various metal categories.

Zastro's new position builds on her longtime industry experience. Before joining Alpha Metal Recycling in 2017, she worked 13 years for Schiabo Larovo, the Stainless Steel and Alloy Division of SIMS Metal Management. The closing of that division led her to the Alpha Metal Recycling opportunity.

"Renee is a true asset to our organization, her contributions have helped Alpha to efficiently manage growth over the past year," says Edie Comminos, President and Founder of Alpha Metal Recycling. "Her ability to multitask services while connecting with both customers and employees with a high level of care has been instrumental in our success and expansion. Renee has also brought significant multi-national perspectives to our business. Moving forward, I'm confident she'll be applying her industry insights to keep our company on its growth-focused initiatives."
